

A: COMMUNITY / AGENCIES / FIRE SAFE COUNCILS

The Unit is continually engaging the community, local government, and other stakeholders to address the wildfire issues. CAL FIRE is typically involved in the recommendation and development of pre-fire projects in both counties independently and in advisory roles. CAL FIRE participates in Fire Safe programs as well as other ad hoc fire prevention groups seeking assistance. In 2008, CAL FIRE, with the assistance of the Resource Conservation Service (San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties) and from a grant from the US Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) began development of a CWPP. The CWPP was completed in 2010 and is a living document. The information obtained during the Collaborative efforts undertaken in the development of the CWPP applies to this document as well.

As many residents of San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties have experienced firsthand, wildfire can threaten lives, property, community assets, and natural resources. There are preventive measures that can be taken to help protect communities from the devastating losses that can result from wildfire. However, individual implementation of such measures can be prohibitive in terms of both cost and time, especially when neighboring properties do not participate. In this respect, the Strategic Fire plan and Community Wildfire Protection Plan (CWPP) can be very empowering tools, providing communities with the opportunity to influence where and how fuel reduction projects are implemented.

Communities with CWPPs in place are given priority for funding of hazardous fuels reduction projects. Funding is made available primarily through the California Fire Safe Council's grant clearinghouse that combines federal and state funding sources into one place. Organizations such as Fire Safe councils and the RCD's regularly apply for grant funding on behalf of the community. This plan, in conjunction with the approved CWPP creates the opportunity to address the wildfire problem across the two counties.

Early stages of development of the CWPP for San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties began in 2008. After securing limited funding, a core Planning Group convened in June of 2008 to discuss the feasibility for developing a CWPP for Santa Cruz and San Mateo Counties. This Group discussed the potential project scope and a rough timeline for the process of developing a CWPP. The Planning Group included the following participants:

- CAL FIRE
- Resource Conservation District of Santa Cruz County (RCDSCC)
- San Mateo Resource Conservation District (SMRCD)
- US Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS)

Each time a CWPP is created in a given local, a unique and new process ensues for that region and it always involves a steep learning curve for each community. Rather than recreating the wheel, from July to November of 2008, the Planning group gathered and reviewed available guidance documents and talked to people in other areas who had previously developed CWPPs in order to gain from lessons they learned.

Beginning in December of 2008, representatives of CAL FIRE and the RCDs conducted preliminary outreach to Fire Districts in order to compile existing wildfire prevention information. Through individual meetings with local Fire Districts, this effort harnessed local fire professionals' knowledge in both counties about high risk areas, WUI boundaries, and priority projects. CAL FIRE compiled this information and represented it graphically on maps.

CAL FIRE and the RCDs solicited community input by holding several public meetings in order to create a draft CWPP. State Parks, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and the Central Coast Fire Learning Network were invited to advise on development of a process for public input. In May 2009, two public meetings were convened, one in each county, to introduce community members to the CWPP process, solicit self-identified members for a Stakeholder Advisory Committee and conduct breakout sessions to gather a preliminary round of feedback.

Throughout the process of public feedback, from May 2009 until present, community members interested in following the CWPP process online have been able to access updates and information about how to provide feedback through the CWPP blog (<http://wildfireplan.blogspot.com>).

In the middle part of 2010 the Santa Cruz County San Mateo County Community Wildfire Protection Plan was adopted by the respective Board of Supervisors for each County. Much of the information contained in the approved CWPP was considered and included in the development of the Strategic Fire Plan. They are to be considered related and should be used in conjunction.
